Guidelines for Submission

Law Colloquy is a peer-reviewed, journal, and no manuscript will be finally accepted for publication until it has completed the peer review process, including rewriting by the author(s) to satisfy peer review comments, under the direction of the Editor-in-Chief.

Manuscripts:

- a. Articles (4000-8000 words)
- b. Case Comments/review- (2000-5000)
- c. Blogs- (1500-2000)
- d. Book review (1000-2000)

Themes

Law Colloquy promotes submissions on a wide range of topics, based on analysing contemporary issues, policy decisions, case studies, proposing/recommending legislative reforms or judgement analysis.

Submission Guidelines

- Submissions must be original. By submitting an article, the author undertakes (Author's declaration) that it has not been submitted, accepted or published elsewhere.
- The author(s)/ contributors bear full responsibility to check and ensure that, if the manuscript submitted contains any material that is subject to copyright or ownership rights. The employment of previously published figures/illustrations/images etc. in the manuscript submitted to the Journal implies that, the author has already obtained needful written permission from the copyright/ownership holder. Illustrations and other materials having source from other publications must be properly credited.
- All submission should be accompanied with a Covering Letter mentioning the Title of the Paper, Name, Designation, Mobile No., email id and Institution of the Author. Failure to submit full information would result in outright rejection of the paper.
- The author(s)/contributors must not mention their name or any information disclosing their identity in the manuscript. This is required to ensure a fair reviewing process. Information about the author(s) shall ONLY be mentioned in the covering letter and body of the email.
- Submitting the same article in more than one journal in parallel is unethical and unacceptable.
